SPIRIT OF THE MORNING PRESS. The Intelligencer again considers the enor mities of the " as I understand it" theory of modern statesmen, the childishly foolish speech of Senator Sumner lately delivered in the Massachusetts Free Soil Convention, forming the editor's text. We do not know that in the whole course of our reading, we ever perused a more powerful newspaper article than this morning's leader in the Intelligencer. It completely exposes the weakness of those publie men who, to shield themselves from censure for deliberately risking the future peace and prosperity of the country in their eagerness to play the demagogue for their own immediate advantage, pretend that they are at liberty to interpret the constitution, each man of them according to their own interest, fancy, prejudice, or sinister purposes-that's it. And that this precious rule of mob law-for it amounts to nothing more—is to be followed by any and all at their leisure and pleasure. This doctrine, as sillily advocated by Senator Sumner, the Intelligencer completely explodes the Alexandria Gazette, of surprise at the tone of the organ since the elections, with reference to Know-Nothingism, says:

"We have no hesitation in repeating emphatically that the true Democratic position is comings of failing to exert themselves to lop one of uncompromising antagonism to the secret order of Ngow-Nothingism But this does not imply that our party is not ready to accede to such reasonable amendments of the naturalization laws as time and experience have pointed out as necessary and proper. Neither does it commit us to the approval or defence of naturalized citizens when their demeanor is such as to subject them to censures. The spirit of the naturalization laws expects those who enjoy its benefits to become Americanized in sentiment, in feeling, in demeanor, and in a hearty and exclusive allegiance to ear own government. The Democracy of the Union will never hesitate so to amend the laws as to secure these ends. But they cannot and will not seek to secure these objects by a crusade of intolerance against foreigners, as illiberal as it is un :onstitutional."

NEW BOOKS.

KANSAS AND NEBRASKA.-Gray & Ballantyne have sent us a history of Kansas and Nebraska, with an account of the emigrant and aid companies, and directions to emigrants; by E. E. Hale. This publication contains an original map from the latest authorities. We know nought of the correctness of this publication; but as the eyes of many of our countrymen are turned toward this, heretofore, obscure region, we doubt not but that Mr. Hale's new work will meet with a large and ready

"ROLLA'S TOUR IN EUROPE," is the title of a new book for children, by Jacob Abbot. Mr. Abbot's works are fast becoming popular in every section of the country. While they are instructive they are also extremely entertaining, captivating at once the youthful a gutter. Pretty figure that, to criticise the meind. They are destined to have the same fine arts! A man's taste is very generally ed a year or two since by the Appletons. run as the productions of Peter Parley Goodrich. Frank Taylor has sent us a copy of this rarely failing to hold good; and it forms

Iskender Bey, a Colonel in the Turkish cavalry, of whom frequent mention is made in the present war, is described as eighty-nine years of age, of medium size, but powerful frame. He is of Tartar origin, a Mussulman by birth, born in the Crimea, to which his father emigrated from Poland, and inherits the rank of a Count, and an estate in Bessarabia. While yet a youth, he was expelled from the Crimea for political reasons, and thence forward became the sworn enemy of Russia. His life has been spent in warfare. He participated in the Carlist war in Spain, and the revolutionary struggles in Portugal, and for his services in the Peninsula was honored with eleven different orders of nobility. He was at the siege of Herat in 1836, in Central Asia, participated in the Chinese war with the British, and fought under Abd-el Kader in Algiers; was in the Hungarian revolution under Bem, and has since been in the Turkish service, fighting against the Montenegrins and Bosnians, and the Russians. In the Montene grin war he achieved a brilliant victory, and won the title of Pacha, but Austria and Russia protesting against such an honor to one of the Hungarian leaders, he voluntarily resigned it. At Kalafat, last winter, he rendered important services. It is said that he speaks French well, and has traveled much in the United States

LORD STIRLING'S CLAIM,-It is stated one of the important motives leading to the visit of our distinguished townsman, the Hon. Reverdy Johnson's visit to England is connected with the so-called Lord Stirling's claim to General's Office, and to the Head Quarters of the Russian garrison, who were marching to important lands and fishery privileges on the coasts of the British American possessions. Mr. Johnson has rendered an opinion on the subject in which he says :

"Although Lord Stirling, on account of the vastness of his legal rights, has failed thus far to secure their full recognition, I am of opinion that when his case is fairly presented for compromise, the British Government cannot wisely or honorably refuse him a most liberal sum for the surrender of his vast rights and privileges, including, besides the title to many millions of public lands in the colonies, the right of fishery on the coats of Canada, Nova Scotis, and New Brunswick, the rights of viceroyalty, and the extraordinary privilege of creating baronets, all secured by undoubted charters, and confirmed by the highest judicial and official sanction."

WASHINGTON NEWS AND GOSSIP. The Transaction of Business by Congress. 'A Subscriber," who complains that, for many long years, he has been kept out of what the Government honestly owes him, by the impossibility of inducing Congress to act finally on his claim, asks us if we cannot suggest a remedy for this crying evil of legislative inattention to the demands of the Government's honest creditors.

tainly at hand, and that its application would cure the evil in a trice. It, however, lays with the constituencies of honorable members to apply it, and we have so little cenfidence in their disposition to interfere as they should in such matters, that we fear that to suggest it to them would be not more effective than whisting psalms to dead horses. At present, the constituents of the members of both Houses, instead of employing professional men to attend to their business before the Executive departments here, thrust it upon members of Congre s. This forms the excuse for sitting out from one to, at most, three hours per diem for nine-tenths of every session. If forty members will enter into an agreement to insist on yea and nay vote on every motion to adjourn, made before the House has been in session for five or six hours, the probability is that no day's session will be less than four hours' duration at least, except on some extraordinary occasion. If constituencies will hold members responsible for failing to call for the yeas and nays, and to procure them, on such motions, most of the evil complained of will be speedily cured. The next reform needed will be to prevent the delivery of speeches upon anything but the current business that is actually before either House. A large portion of the last session was actually taken up with personal explanations, it will be remembered, while a much larger portion was devoted to the delivery of speeches on subjects not before the House. Of speeches of no earthly importance in the transaction of the public business. The cure for this evil is to print, as formerly, nothing in the way of Congressional proceedings, except the journals of Congress, at the expense of the National Treasury. The hundred and fifty thousand dollars paid last year from the National Treas ury for the publication of the Buncombe of honorable gentlemen, is a mere bagatelle when compared with other ruinous conse quences to the public interest growing out of the indiscriminate publication, at the public expense, of the trash, conventionally, but not really, spoken in the halls, as well as that ac-The Union, in answer to the declaration of tually spoken. Our complaining subscriber must aid us in awakening the constituencies to the importance of holding members to strict responsibility, not only for their votes going to off the warts and excrescences, in the way of bad customs, which Congress have adopted of late years, that so completely divert their attention from the transaction of real business as to defeat due action on at least three-fourths of the business to which they should attend and render abortive their efforts to dispese of much of the rest understandingly. The Washington Monument.-The New York Tribune improves the occasion of our remarks a day or two since on the existing lukewarmness of the country with reference t the continuation of the work on the Washing ton Monument, to strike it a blow in the back The editor holds that it is the duty of patrice ism to withhold the means of its completion because, as he alleges, its plan is not in good taste. This is his only-absolutely-his only pretence for such advice to the public. Now with all due respect for him, we have to say that he is the last man in creation who is en titled to sit up for a critic in the fine arts. His aim has been for years to create the impression that his mind is above such trifles. and to do this he has adopted the exceedingly vulgar expedient of invariably exhibiting himself in public in an old greasy and seedy white overcoat, with the tail flopping around his dirty boots, and dirty and greasy white hat worn clear of nap His toute ensemble, as he shuffles or hobbies along, is that of a fallen shaker, half seas over, who has just got sober enough to walk without again tumbling into manifested in his own style. This is a rule good bar to the influence of his advice with reference to the plan of the Monument. W have to add that further inquiry has satisfied us that there exists no danger that the world on the Monument will be abandoned, though it is very certain that unless additional aid is received from some source or other, it must lag, so as to postpone its completion for many years. We trust that there is patriotism enough in the land to prevent even such a calamity from occurring.
